Piece Goods

Brisker Sales
Stocks Very Low
Auctions Resumed

WITH the clearing up of the impasse in the weekly piece goods auctions caused by the resentment of the dealers to certain new conditions introduced to govern the weekly sales of Kungping, Ewo and Yuenfong, there has been a brisker volume of sales, confined for the greater part to auction lots As regards direct orders sent to Manchester these show no increase, although the feeling in the market seems to favor more nibbling and less haggling about prices. Hope has been springing too frequently in the hearts of the importers. However pessimistic the situation at times might have appeared, the belief that things will once again come right and buying on a large scale resumed has been the underlying current, giving importers all the courage to bear the depression.

Stocks of piece goods stand very low, and the replenishment must come. The wonder of it is that the scanty supplies should have lasted so long. There have, of course, been spurts of buying now and again, but the dealers have had no heart to make extensive purchases owing to the disorders in the country.

The buyers in Shanghai have all along been anxious to buy at prices which were refused by the Manchester manufacturers when cotton was 2d. a pound cheaper then it is today. The disparity now and again gets tapered off, but the position is not at all times encouraging. The importers are convinced that consumption will be improved when a greater measure of confidence is restored.

HARD TO ANALYZE

It is difficult to arrive at the exact state of affairs in the cloth market. Some firms and individual importers report "nothing doing" while others are fortunate in having a fairly good list of transactions put through. The turnover is restricted not so much by the rise in values but by the sense of insecurity which still pervades many important consuming marts in the interior. This sense of insecurity has checked business in all departments, and the wonder is that anything of a substantial character was ever attempted.

There is a demand for heavy grey shirtings and various finishing styles. A small trade is transpiring in these. In addition, tentative offers are being made for whites, greys and finishing styles. The Japanese house are doing a better business in manufactured piece goods than they did before, Japanese prices being comparatively cheaper than those of Lancashire. Chinese dealers are beginning to accept the present prices both of Manchester and Osaka as a possible basis of business. There is less nervousness as regards future prices and, although buying is being postponed in many directions, the belief is gaining ground that values cannot go down very much. Bids, however, are being kept to a safe basis and the market still looks forward to an improved demand.

AT THE AUCTIONS

The auctions after the temporary stoppage appear to have been well patronised, much higher values being recorded compared with the period prior to the stoppage. There is a distinct shortage of some sorts of shirtings and as goods to come out here in the next few months are by no means considerable the forward position is, therefore, not wholly unpromising The revival of business cannot be indefinitely prolonged. The secondary Far Eastern markets appear to be operating in the same modest way as Shanghai.

An interesting sidelight into the anti-Japanese sentiment which had been such a sad feature of the piece goods market for sometime and which happily has died down is provided by news from India. It now appears that the boycott of Japanese goods in China has done Lancashire no good after all, for Japanese piece goods which were originally destined for China had been offered in India. So the gain in the Chinese market was more than offset by the loss of business in India.

The "Manchester Guardian Commercial" quotes the head of a large firm in India as having written the following letter to a Manchester shipper: "I have no patience with Manchester prices. Your producers think because they are losing money the coolies out here will jump and

POINCARE FIRM

Treaty Must Be Left Untouched, He Declares

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Washington, Nov. 1.—It is learned on good authority here that the United States will insist that the proposed conference on reparations shall not be restricted to the point of abortiveness.

It is reported that J. P. Morgan, head of the international banking firm, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, and Former Secretary of State Elihu Root are being mentioned as possible American members of the committee of experts to determine Germany's capacity to pay.

The declaration by Premier Poincare, however, that any inquiry must be conducted under the auspices of the reparations commission and that France will permit no reduction in the total amount of reparations as fixed under the treaty, is admitted to be causing no little concern here.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 1.—Unveiling a war memorial at Nevers M. Poincare recalled that the ex-soldiers who replied to the mobilization were convinced that the Republic had done everything to avoid entering into the war which had long been prepared by the Central Empires. Hand workers, peaceful, in no way desirous of glory and conquest, they wished solely to defend Motherland and justice. The same sentiments grouped around France the nations of all the continents who found the cause just.

After the common victory, three presidents came to Paris to pay homage to Glorious France by reason of her immense sacrifices, which had earned the respect of the human race. The victors prepared for peace and re-made the map of the world, France demanding in Europe no territorial advantage but only claiming her stolen property. She received promises of guarantees against fresh aggression and of indemnity for damages and confidently signed the treaty which she considered the minima.

Soon the finest stones of the edifice fell. Certain of the Allies forgot that they had eagerly demanded the prosecution of the Kaiser. Others having offered an insufficient guarantee pact retracted or did not ratify the treaty, the international collaborators in

Yellow River Project Is Officially Turned Over To Shantung Province

Asia Development Complimented For Gigantic Engineering Feat At Tsinan Celebration

(Special To The China Press)

Tsinanfu, Nov. 2.—The Yellow River project constructed by the Asia Development Company of Shanghai was officially turned over to Governor Hsiung Ping-chih of Shantung by the American concern today after which a large number of prominent guests, including Mr. Paul Pag-Whitham, president of the company, and the American Consul here, Mr. Ray Tenney, joined with the Chinese authorities in celebrating the occasion at a banquet in the Governor's yamen.

The project was actually turned over to the Shantng authorities on October 20, but Governor Hsiung set today as the date of the formal celebration. Mr. L. Fred Patstone, Chief Engineer in charge of the work, turned the new project over to Governor Hsiung in which he gave a brief outline of the construction work and paid compliments to Governor Hsiung and the Shantung authorities, the Y. M. C. A., and neighboring missionaries who rendered valuable assistance and co-operation in the successful culmination of the work.

PATSTONE'S ADDRESS

Mr. Patstone said:

"In joining with you in this celebration of the completion of the Yellow River diversion and the restoration of over a quarter of a million people to their homes, it makes me feel joyful and also contented to have worked with you and to have been one of the cogs in the wheel of success.

"On behalf of the Asia Development Company I wish to say that we rejoice with the people for the good crops and prosperity that is now theirs and that this construction has enabled them to again settle on their land and commence the rebuilding of their homes.

"If we can stop for a moment and picture the conditions at Kung Chia K'o in August 1921 and that existing now, the contrast is very striking.

"I have had one of the Yellow River captains tell me of the flood of August, 1921 and their struggle to prevent the dis-

PEACEMAKER IS OPTIMISTIC OF PLAN'S SUCCESS

Sir Robert Ho Tung Addresses American Legion Tiffin

Asserting that he was confident that despite the present chaotic conditions prevailing in China the exercise of tact, patience and good-will in working for peace would bring his proposed Round Table Conference to a successful culmination, Sir Robert Ho Tung gave a general outline of his scheme at a tiffin given in his honor at the Hotel Parisien yesterday by the American Legion.

About 80 were present at the affair including United States Consul-General Edwin S. Cunningham; Judge Charles S. Lobingier; Mr. S. Fessenden, Chairman of the Municipal Council, Mr. J. Harold Dollar; Dr. W. F. Findley, Major A. Basarti, Captain W. I. Eisler, Captain V. Olsen and Major Stewart of the S.V.C., all guests of the Legion.

Mr. C. S. Franklin, Commander of Frederick Ward Post of the Legion, presided and introduced Sir Robert who spoke as follows:

THE SPEECH—

"I thank you for the honor you have done me in inviting me to say a few words to this gathering with reference to the plan for a Round Table Conference.

"Ordinarily, I would feel rather diffident about speaking before a company of men who belong to a nation of born orators. Happily, this is not my first experience in addressing Americans. Some five years ago I had the honor of speaking at a reception tendered by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and the kind attention paid to me then encourages me to come here to-day to address you gentlemen.

"The American Legion, I believe, stands for Service and Unity: and the purpose of the Round Table Conference proposed by me is for Service and Unity in this great country of China. In these aims I am sure we have

PLAINTIFF GIVEN JUDGMENT IN SHIPPING ACTION

Captain Roberts Awarded Damages For Wrongful Dismissal

Judgment awarding damages and costs to Captain J. Roberts was given by Assessor Whitamore and the Chinese Magistrate in the action for wrongful dismissal brought against Ong Kyung Zae, owner of the steamer Sri Samud.

The plaintiff, who had been acting as first mate of the vessel until the time he was removed by the Hongkong Water Police last January, claimed $1,383.36 and on the Court's computation, taking into consideration certain money already paid, awarded the sum of $667.96.

The case has created much interest in shipping circles. The plaintiff alleged that he was dismissed and finally forcibly removed from the ship because he protested that the vessel was overloaded before leaving Hongkong. He also alleged that he had been boycotted by the Straits Merchant Service Guild because he declined to donate a certain specified part of his wages toward the building of a new Guild room. The defense entered a complete denial.

The text of the judgment follows:

In this action the plaintiff alleged that he was wrongly discharged from the s.s Sri Samud at Hongkong on or about January 8, 1923. The defendant, who is owner of the vessel, avers on the other hand, that such dismissal was not wrongful, but that it was done with the consent of the Civil Authorities and of the Harbor Authorities of Hongkong. Now a ship's articles constitute a simple contract between the owners of the ship and the Mariners thereof. In this case the articles amounted to a contract between plaintiff and defendant for the employment of the former by the latter on board the s.s. Sri Samud, for a voyage from Bangkok to Shanghai, via Hongkong, Nanking, etc., and return, as is alleged in the

Proposed 'Booze' Treaty Solves Awkward Problem

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 1.—In connection with the negotiations between Britain and America with regard to the right to search a ship for liquor outside the three-mile limit, it is understood that Britain has agreed to the American proposal that British vessels shall be liable to search within 12 miles of American shores but that the three-mile limit will continue in other respects.

The draft of the proposed treaty does not specify the limit of search, but provides that the United States, for the first time, shall recognise the three-mile limit in all other matters and that British ships shall be allowed to carry spirits into American waters under seal.

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Nov. 1.—Commenting on the proposed treaty between Britain and America granting America the right to search up to a 12-mile limit, the New York Herald says that the treaty is a happy way out of an awkward situation. Congress has only tothe United States exempt foreign shipping from the operation of the Volstead Law and the wrong done to foreign nations will be righted.

The New York Morning World declares that the treaty will end two scandals, namely, the irritating attempt to impose American prohibition laws on foreign peoples and rum-running under the British flag, but there is nothing elevating in the thought that the right thing will be done not because it is right but because each Government is able to get something in exchange.

(BY UNITED PRESS)

New York, Nov. 1.—American shipping firms, it is predicted here, will wage a stiff fight on American ratification of the proposed twelve-mile liquor treaty with Great Britain because, they allege, the treaty as at present draft will favor British ships against American ships by permitting British vessels to sell liquor both coming to and going from

MAN SEVERELY INJURED WITH MEAT CHOPPER

Blackmailer Wields Weapon When Victim Refuses Money

Blackmailers on Thursday evening severely injured a Chinese living at 485 Boone Road when he refused to divulge the supposed hiding place of his money, according to a report made to Municipal police yesterday.

The blackmailers secured entrance to the house and demanded money of the occupant and when he refused one of them attacked him with a meat, chopper and inflicted numerous severe injuries to various parts of his body. They then escaped. The injured man was taken to St. Luke's Hospital where it is said his condition is serious.

An attempted armed robbery on Thursday evening was also reported to police yesterday. Several men, one armed with a pistol, entered a house at 461 East Seward Road and attempted to rob the inmates. A ricsha coolie employed by the master of the house grabbed the man with the pistol and in the struggle that ensued the robber dropped his gun and then fled.

After the robbers had fled one of the inmates picked up the pistol to examine it, when, without warning it exploded. No one was injured.

No Extra Session For Japan's Diet

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 1.—The Hochi asserts that the Government has decided not to call an extraordinary session of the Diet. The decision is attributed ostensibly to the delay in completing reconstruction plans and the present lack of housing accommodation for members as well as printing difficulties, but the paper believes that political reasons predominate, expressing the opinion that the Government would be better able at an ordinary session to cope with whatever opposition that may develop towards its administrative program.

MANILA FEELS MORE TEMBLORS; BUILDINGS ROCK

Two More Shocks Are Recorded In Philippines; Center Is Shifting

(Exclusive China Press)

Manila, Nov. 1.—Manila was again frightened this afternoon by two earthquakes, similar in nature to the one which occurred a few days ago. One shock was felt at 2:40 p.m. and the second at 3.59, both of the third intensity and lasting five seconds each.

The observatory says that the centers of the disturbances are constantly shifting, today's shocks centering in Laguna province south of Manila. Father Saderra, an expert at the observatory, who visited Taal Volcano today, declared that there is not the least sign of unusual activity there.

The two shocks were felt throughout the downtown district of Manila. Buildings shook, causing a near panic among crowds of office workers, many of whom fled from the buildings to the streets.

Crowds in the motion picture theaters rushed to the open when the first shock came.

The walls of the Masonic Temple, one of Manila's tallest buildings, cracked. No other damage has been reported so far.

SIR FRANCIS AGLEN GIVEN RECEPTION ON RETURN

Chinese Bankers And Merchants Hosts

SPEAK ON LOANS

Ask Inspector General For His Support

Sir Francis Aglen, K.C.M.G., Inspector General of Customs, who returned to Shanghai yesterday by the steamer Empress of Canada after biting on home leave, was the guest of honor yesterday afternoon at a reception tendered at the General Chamber of Commerce building under the auspices of the General Chamber, the Shanghai Bankers' Association and the Native Bankers' Association.

There was a large gathering of prominent Chinese merchants and bankers and in addresses of welcome to the returning Inspector General his aid was sought toward the opposing of any action tending to affect the Consolidated Loan Service system, particularly in the light of the recent Four-Power Note.

Mr. Fong Chu-pa, Vice Chairman of the General Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai, presided and besides Sir Francis, Mr. L. A. Lyall, Commissioner of Customs of Shanghai, was the only foreign guest. Refreshments were served.

MR. FONG SPEAKS

Welcoming Sir Francis back to China, Mr. Fong spoke as follows:

"On behalf of the General Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai, I have pleasure to extend to you [illegible] welcome. When you passed through Shanghai some time ago, we had the happiness of welcoming you here to say good-bye to you. On that occasion we were not only gratified at being able to speak with you face to face, but we were also privileged to hear from your own lips important remarks concerning the situation of the Consolidated Loan Service. Now your short well-earned furlough being at an end, you are again in our midst.

"It is very difficult for us to put into fitting words our profound admiration for the excellent work you have done in connection with the Consolidated Loan Service by adhering to the one practical system based on priority of claims. You will remember that as far back as in January of this year, we addressed a despatch to the Doyen of the Diplomatic Body concerning the Four-Power Note, and lodged a protest against any action affecting the fundamental system on which the Consolidated Loan Service System is operated. We also solicited your warm support, and your readiness to accede to our wishes is something which we recall with grateful appreciation.

PRAISE PREVIOUS STAND

"In a memorandum dated January 14, 1923 which you issued for public information, you have summed up the whole situation of the customs surplus vis-a-vis the effective 5 percent ad valorem duty and the claims of foreign creditors in respect of unsecured foreign loans or foreign loans supported by unsatisfactory securities. You have spoken in the light of one whose chief concern is to maintain an essential principle because its maintenance means the solution of loan problems on a permanent basis whereas its violation would bring on endless entanglements. The impartial and unbiassed tone of your observations still rings fresh in our ears.

"We are given to understand that a further note has been addressed by the Four Powers concerned to the Chinese Government practically asking it to waive this established principle of priority in favor of the foreign loans to which we referred. We look to you to throw all the light in your power on the absolute impracticability and unwisdom of such a course of procedure for it will destroy the element of security in the case of those foreign loans that have been benefitted by the confusion-proof system of priority. In the matter of devising remedial measures, we think that the early convocation of the conference for the enforcement of the additional 2½ percent duty will go a long way towards the solution of this vexed question, such being also a provision of the Washington Conference.

EXPRESS CONFIDENCE

"Since you have so energetically defended the priority system in the past so much so that in your telegram of January 3 you left no doubt on the subject when you declared that 'so long as the National Consolidated Loan Service remains in my hands, I shall endeavor to maintain its established priority over all other subsequent charges,' we are perfectly confident that this system will be left unhampered in your hands for thus and thus only will it be possible to maintain public confidence in these bonds and to avert a would-be financial disaster of far-reaching consequences.

"Sir Francis, accept our renewed heartfelt thanks for the solicitude which you have so conscientiously displayed in regard to the prior claims of the internal loan bond-holders. Permit us to take this opportunity of calling upon you to favor us with a few words of good counsel and timely enlightenment. But first of all let us raise our cups and drink to your health, success and happiness."

MR. SHENG TSU-SHU SPEAKS

Mr. Sheng Tsu-shu, Chairman of the Shanghai Bankers' Association, also delivered an address of welcome in the course of which he paid a warm tribute to Sir Francis for his valuable services in connection with the Consolidated Loan Service whereby the sinking funds of the loans concerned were made secure, and for having strictly adhered to the principle of priority.

Sir Francis was asked to explain the situation very clearly to the Ministers by whom the Four Power Note was addressed to the Chinese Government for, said Mr. Sheng, "it is inconceivable that the Ministers concerned would want the priority system fundamentally undermined, for that would be a disaster to foreign and Chinese bond-holders alike and would affect the interests of foreign creditors in a large way."

Mr. Sheng expressed the hope that Sir Francis will do what lies in his power to effect two drawings of the Currency Loan which are in arrear, and to assist in the work of national financial reform.

SIR FRANCIS REPLIES

Sir Francis Agien, after thanking the three host organisations for the welcome extended to him both on the occasion of his departure for England and on the present occasion of his return to China, said that having been out of touch with the situation in Peking for six months, and not being equipped with actual figures, he was not able to speak of the domestic loan situation in so authoritative a manner as he had done last time. He assured the audience that he would do his very best to maintain the system of priority for it was the only workable method of avoiding muddles.

With regard to the drawings, Sir Francis remarked that two drawings were due to have taken place at the end of March and September, 1923, respectfully but because the requisite funds were insufficient, the drawings have been postponed. The postponement was principally due to the failure of receiving from the Salt Administration the promised financial support.

THIS YEAR'S RECEIPTS

Asked if the present year's customs receipts exceed those of last year, Sir Francis said that the figures are approximately the same for both years. In the case of Shanghai, Mr. Lyall pointed out that in consequence of the revision of the Customs tariff the collection ought to have been 20 percent more but the receipts to date compare about the same as last year.

A question was also raised as to the uses made by the Inspectorate General of Customs for the revenue derived from wharfage dues collected by the Customs at the various ports. Sir Francis explained that this revenue does not in any way benefit the Customs financially for the Customs only acts as agents for the municipalities or official organs concerned. In the case of Shanghai, 50 percent of the wharfage dues collected go to the Municipal Council of the International Settlement, 30 percent go to the Municipality of the French Concession, and 20 percent are turned over to the Superintendent of the Chinese Customs.

CALLS ON MERCHANTS

Sir Francis called upon the merchants of China to do their utmost for restoring peace and order in the country for this he said, is the only means of establishing confidence among the people and reviving trade activities. With peace restored he believes China will have no occasion to seek for foreign loans.

Although the $96,000,000.00 domestic loan was not formally included in the Consolidated Loan Service, Sir Francis said this loan would in his opinion have priority after the discharge of the obligations arising from the loans actually handled by the service.

Sir Francis leaves for Pukow by the 11 o'clock Express this evening.

The Chinese Peacemaker

Sir Robert Ho Tung, who yesterday gave members of the American Legion a brief resume of his Round Table Conference for the Unification of China.

your whole-hearted sympathy. I realise that I am before an audience of China's friends. You live in this country; it is your second home in reality, your adopted country. You have brought your families here and are educating your children here. Your business enterprises are here, and the welfare of China is your welfare. For if China is peaceful and prosperous, you will benefit thereby. If the country is disorderly and in chaos, your enterprises are retarded and your labor may be in vain.

CO-OPERATION—

"The line is still too closely drawn in China, as between Chinese and foreigners living in China. We should all work together in the interest of the common good and the development of the country. When it was suggested that foreigners be present at the Round Table Conference, there was some misconception among certain sections of the Chinese people that it might lead to interference with the internal affairs of China. This misconception, I am glad to say, is being gradually dispelled. The Chinese and foreigners should be friends and one should help the other in every way; and in the great task of putting her own house in order, China should seek the friendship and co-operation of foreign nations.

"Coming to present internal conditions in China, since the establishment of the Republic there has been constant dissension and fighting, the direct result of different leaders each wanting his own way and thinking his way the best for curing the country's ills. There has been a regrettable want of cohesion and co-operation. The strength and wealth of the nation have been dissipated in these personal quarrels. It is difficult to estimate what the cost has been thus far but it is certain that many hundreds of millions have been wasted that could have been utilised not only to establish China's credit in the world and place her finances on a firm basis, but for the construction of railways and for other developments necessary to the progressive prosperity of the country.

THE PROBLEM

"Here is a problem which on the face of it is so simple. Here is a big, rich country, with wonderful natural resources undeveloped; with virgin areas untouched; with a man-power such as no nation in the world possesses; with golden opportunities waiting at every turn. Yet the progress made is out of all proportion to what it should be were there no domestic troubles.

"Now, it is difficult to believe that any of the big men in China are so evil as deliberately to keep the country in chaos. The condition has been brought about by misunderstanding and mistrust; by the people not being sufficiently interested themselves in the affairs of the country; and by unwillingness on the part of the leaders to meet each other face to face and to discuss outstanding questions together. Many men who are opposed to each other today would be at peace were they to exchange viewpoints, were they to have an opportunity to learn that they really can work harmoniously together for the good of the country. The Round Table Conference will give them that opportunity.

THE REMEDY

"But very briefly, the plan is this: to call leaders to meet together to find a solution to China's most urgent problems. These are, first, the organisation of a government which shall function throughout the country and whose mandates shall command respect in the provinces; secondly, the disbandment of the army and the placing of the country on a peace footing; thirdly, the reorganisation of China's finances.

"There are many other problems to be solved, but these are the most urgent, and upon their proper solution depends the general progress of the country and the solution of all problems. The task presents great difficulties but in my opinion, by the exercise of patience, tact and good-will, these difficulties are not unsurmountable. The Chinese people are at heart peace-loving, and they are industrious and good business men; and there is no reason why good government can not be established in accordance with the traditions of the country.

"It is a significant portent that there is now a growing and intelligent interest among the masses in the welfare of the state, and the popular approval and support of the proposed Conference is the best encouragement to hope that Peace and Prosperity are within measurable distance of realisation.

Murder And Slavery Of Moro Workers Alleged

(Exclusive China Press)

Manila, Nov. 1—Governor-General Leonard Wood has cabled to Secretary of War Weeks a full report on the situation in Mindanao following his recent personal investigation of conditions at Parang. The text of the governor-general's report has not been made public here.

Tales of wholesale murder and slavery have been brought to Manila from Davao, Mindanao, by investigators who say that between 200 and 300 laborers are known to have died on one plantation there in recent years as a result of alleged mistreatment and conditions bordering on slavery.

The Filipino managers of the plantation have been arrested and charged with homicide.

W. D. Corn, an American, who was one of the investigators, formerly recruited gangs of laborers to work on that plantation. He declares that out of 463 laborers whom he recruited in 1921, only nine are still working. Thirty-two are dead.

Tales of cruelty to the Moro workers leaked out when the plantation manager was taken ill and sent to a hospital and Corn took over the management. The plantation is closely guarded and escape is almost impossible, so none of the stories of cruelty were brought to the attention of the authorities.

It is known here that 100 additional members of the Philippines constabulary are ready to proceed to Mindanao if the authorities find that they are needed there.

TARIFF PLAN IS ATTACKED BY LEADERS OF LIBERALS

Baldwin Too General In Address, Is Complaint

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 1.—The National Liberal view of Mr. Baldwin's proposals was voiced by Mr. C. A. McCurdy, M. P., at a conference of National Liberals at Westminster today.

Mr. Curdy expressed the opinion that a General Election would take place not later than January. He complained of the paucity of details of the Prime Minister's intentions, creating an uncertainty which would itself tend to increase unemployment. He described tariffs as a blind and futile remedy for foreign competition and advocated raising the level of production by increasing the demand of home markets.

In conclusion, Mr. McCurdy declared that it would not help matters by imposing fresh clogs and fetters on the importation of food and raw materials.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 1.—Labor's considered reply to Mr. Stanley Baldwin has been issued in the form of a resolution adopted by a joint meeting of the General Council of the Trades Union Congress and the Labor Party, calling on all labor organisations and members to resist to the utmost the specious arguments for protection and to press upon the electorate Labor's policy of work and wages, with the provision of adequate maintenance for reserves of industry to be secured by international reconstruction and co-operation, national reorganisation and development and by putting into operation Labor's general program to meet crying social and economic ills, as the only real alternative to protection.

Russians Charged With Violation Of Traffic Regulations

Three Russians appeared in the Mixed Court before Assessor Ivanoff and Magistrate Tsang on charges of violating traffic regulations.

Yarin Petroff, 8 Weihaiwei Road, was fined $2 for driving a car in an area prohibited to drivers carrying only learner's licenses. George Berger, 100 West Jukong Road, and Alex. Orloff, 43 Avenue du Roi Albert, were cautioned for failing to have the rear lamps lighted on cars they were driving.

Famous Russian Magician At Apollo Theater

Prof. Izako, the famous Russian conjurer and magician, who, before the overthrow of the Czar gave regular performances before the head of all the Russias, has arrived in Shanghai and will appear at the Apollo Theater on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday of next week.

The magician will perform his feats of magic as an added attraction to the usual moving picture program at the theater. He will perform numerous new and modern tricks as well as all the most difficult of the old Egyptian and Indian tricks.

Father Sued For Public School Fees

Judgment for $50.30 was given the Shanghai Municipal Council against D. Goldman by Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court yesterday. Mr. E. Maitland, appearing for the Council, said that the claim was the balance due on school fees for the Public School for Boys. Mr. Goldman, he said, paid only when he was summoned into court—generally a few hours before he actually had to appear in court. Judgment was given for the amount and the costs of the proceedings.

Italy Pays Great Honor To Fascisti

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 1.—Great demonstrations in celebration of the anniversary of Fascism have been held throughout Italy. A procession, at the head of which was Signor Mussolini, marched to the tomb of the unknown soldier and afterwards to the Quirinad, where they cheered the King for five hours.

Sponsored Yellow River Project

Civil Governor Hsiung Ping chih of Shantung who, despite the activities of bandits in his province and the generally Chaotic conditions in China, successfully raised the $1,500,000 needed for the great Yellow River project, and rendered valuable co-operation to the Asia Development Company.

aster. How after a number of days of rain with the dikes saturated and the river within one foot of the top and the raging current starting to scour away part of the dike, and uprooting trees planted along the foot of the dikes the current started to swirl and scour badly at the weakest part of the dike. How they had been working night and day in the rain, building packwork to protect the threatened section and how the river up to this time had been flowing in two converging channels and finally swung over and started to swirl and dig in front of the dikes and the raging flood had soon made a breach over one mile wide through which it poured, flowing out over the country, bringing death and destruction to countless and leaving over a quarter of a million people homeless. Nearly five hundred villages were destroyed, the survivors seeking refuge on the dikes, upon which they erected mud houses and took up the weary task of trying to prevent starvation.

FLOODS HAVOC

"I know of no more depressing sight than that caused by floods. Since the river has been drained off I have ridden over the area and seen a portion of the five hundred towns that the river in its greed had destroyed. In some places all that remained were a few piles of bricks to mark the place that someone had once called home. In another place would be a temple and being of more sturdy construction it had weathered the flood but the mud brought down had engulfed it and the roof was just raising its head above the mud deposit although in mute appeal for help to its former dwellers.

"That was the condition that the flood of August 1921 brought, now let us see the picture today. The river has been forced into a new channel where it finally reaches its former bed and where today it is flowing peacefully to the sea. The gaps where the river formerly flowed through have been closed, an immense rock-fill dam blocks off the former course of the river and requires it to flow in its new channel. The people have returned to their land in time to plant and gather the crops for the second half of the present year. Their crops consisting mostly of beans have been wonderfully bounteous and are the means which are enabling the rebuilding of devastated homes and the taking up of life in its normal way again. Despair and poverty in 1921—Hope, prosperity and faith in the future in 1923.

"The Asia Development Company, whose privilege it has been to carry out the construction and to join with you today in the successful completion, bids you welcome and wishes at this time to express its appreciation for the help given it in carrying the construction to successful completion. It desires particularly to thank Governor Hsiung for his support and co-operation, Director Chang and his associates in the Yellow River Bureau for their help and advice. The Y. M. C. A. for its good work. Mr. Greening and Mr. Payne of the English Baptist Mission and Mr. Torrey and Dr. Tucker for their help in the human problem end of the work. The engineers and constructors of the Company, and last, but not least, the Coolie, the workman without whom the thousands of fong of earth and the tons of rock would be still un-moved.

CO-OPERATION

"For myself, as Chief Engineer, of the Project, I do not know how I can ever repay the loyal support that all have given. In addition to their help in putting over the project, it seems to me they have given far more, and I have always had the feeling that there was a friendly co-operation that knitted us all into one large family all bent on accomplishing and completing a worthwhile task. That's why I think that during the times of stress, when the river tried to conquer and undo all that had been accomplished there was no member of the staff but willingly and cheerfully kept at the work through terribly long hours, with no thought of self, but with the single purpose of conquering and making the work a Success.

"When I speak of "our staff" I include the Yellow River Bureau as I have come to feel that they, too, belong to our family.

"I want to say one word about our President and General Manager, Mr. Witham. Without him the work could never have been a success. He had the Vision that in the end brought Victory and to him belongs the credit of making ofer a quarter of a million people happy and contented. I think if Mr. Whitham had been present when Confucius asked some of his disciples what they should most like to accomplish, that he would have answered "Making the Yellow River safe for the people of China." Personally, it is my opinion that by the use of modern science and engineering the Yellow River can be made permanently safe and the people of China relieved from the ever present peril of the river breaking its dykes, and bringing with it Death and Destruction. From my observations, I am of the opinion that a plan of construction and conservancy can be worked out that will definitely keep the Yellow River in its present channel. It is a worth while problem and requires a definite plan and then Energy and Ability to see that the plan is carried out. We all agree "that a great deal of good can be accomplished if one is now careful who gets the credit"—and this is the Spirit on which the present work has been pushed to successful completion."

MR. TIEN'S REPLY

Commissioner of Industries Tien Pu Chang in reply said that the Yellow River has been menacing this country for thousands of years, and it has been 60 years since it last changed its course into the Province of Shantung.

"We have read in history about the breaks and repairs in connection with this river," he said. "Those repairs were all done in an old fashion. But this break was repaired in a new way, which is the outstanding feature of this project. The tragedy at Kung Chia Kuo occurred in August of the 10th year of the Republic, and flooded the districts of Pin Chow, Li Chin, Chan Hua, etc. Hundreds of thousands of people were effected by this great disaster.

"Attention should have been given to repair this work right away. But on account of financial difficulties, and also the high cost of the job by the use of the old method, the whole thing was delayed. With the help of the International Famine Relief Association and raising of taxes, Acting Governor Tien was in shape to negotiate with the Asia Development Company to have it contracted for the repair work. The contract was not signed until November of the 11th year, after the present Civil Governor Hsiung had come to his office. With the great effort and energy of Mr. Whitham construction work was started immediately.

"First, a leading channel was dug, then the old river bed was deepened, thus a cut off dam was built across a groin extending out into the river, and finally all the dykes were erected. The whole work as done in 8 months. Today we are celebrating the completion of the repair work, and today is also the day when our duty can be called done. From now on, peace and prosperity will rule among all the districts around Kung Chia Kuo and this must be ascribed to the members of the staff of the Asia Development Company."

THE GOVERNOR

Mr. Tien then read the following address an behalf of Governor Hsiung:

"On this day, November 2nd of the 12th year of the Chinese Republic, in celebrating the completion of the repairing of Kung Chia Kuo Break, I, on behalf of Mr. Hsiung, Civil Governor of Shantung Province, and general director of Yellow River Work, and all the other members on the staff, do here voice our thankfulness to your company. With the completion of this repair work the duty of the provincial government and the Yellow River Bureau, towards the people of the flooded area, is done, and, also, the duty of your Company is done.

"It has been nearly three years since the tragedy occured at Kung Chia Kuo, as a result of which, hundreds of thousands people became homeless. Your Company undertook to repair the work, although in a commercial nature, but you have done your part as a great benefactor to the poverty stricken people of the suffering area. Having successfully completed the whole work at this specified date, your company deserves the confidence of the Chinese people. Confidence is the mother of commercial success, and I can therefore prophecy the forthcoming growth and prosperity of your Company.

"The work you have done here will stand as great strong walls, not only during the guaranteed period, but for ever and ever, and your effort will never be forgotten by the people around here. In conclusion, I wish to again express the hearty thanks of the government and the people of the province to your Company."

GREAT PROJECT

The project, which took 8 months to complete and cost $1,500,000, was started in December of last year. In order to complete the work before the usual Spring floods large numbers of coolies were employed—at one time 23,000 were at work—and considerable engineering ingenuity displayed.

The river was first straightened by cutting a new channel 6,000 feet in length across a sharp bend. Next a channel 200 feet wide was cut from the lower end of the new channel and down stream for 7 miles. A dam was then constructed across the river by driving a timber trestle across the stream, 800 feet across, and dumping 53,000 yards of rock which was brought from 120 miles away.

The water was turned into the new channel on May 15 and has since then made a new channel in the old river bed.

The engineer on the job, Mr. L. Fred Patstone, is well known in Shanghai, having formerly resided here. He previously served as a Major in the United States Army Engineering Corps and was City Engineer of Manila.

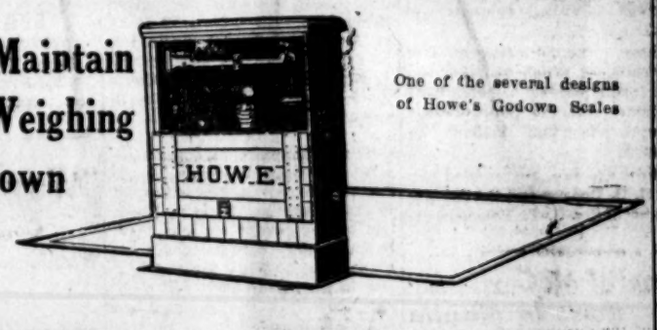
How to Maintain Accurate Weighing in the Godown



One of the several designs of Howe's Godown Scales

The best means known to secure and retain a sensitive balancing point is the use of the knife edge pivot. Chemists use an agate edge for weighing minute particles.

Howe's Godown Scales

have a steel knife edge. To maintain accuracy this must be protected as it is impossible to get accurate weight unless the knife edge pivot is sharp and smooth.

A Special Device

of balls moving in scientific shaped cups, allows movement in all directions and minimizes friction or scraping on the knife edge pivot, even when heavy loads are carelessly dropped on the platform. Thus absolute accuracy is maintained for years.

petition and admitted by the answer.

The discharge of the plaintiff occurred at Hongkong and, from the evidence before the Court, the reason for the dismissal was the objection made by the plaintiff to the alleged overloading of the ship at Haiphong, in conjunction with the actions of the plaintiff in regard thereto. A contracting party is sometimes discharged from his obligations in a contract by the non-performance or malfeasance of conditions by the other party, but it must be remembered that two witnesses for the defendant argued that if a chief officer of a ship honestly believed that the ship could not safely put to sea on account of overloading or any other cause, it would be his duty even if his opinion were erroneous, to express his views to the master of the ship. In any case the action taken by the plaintiff does not appear to the Court sufficient to warrant the defendant considering himself discharged from performance of his side of the contract.

Allegations have been made by counsel and witnesses for the defendant against the habits of the plaintiff in regard to sobriety, but it has been abundantly shown that plaintiff was never anything but sober while engaged in the execution of his duty, therefore these allegations will not be considered by the Court.

For these reasons the Court finds that the contention of wrongful dismissal and breach of contract made by plaintiff is justified. It remains to compute the damages to which plaintiff is entitled. In the petition it states —and it is admitted by the defendant in his answer—that the contract was for a voyage from Bangkok to Shanghai, via ports, and return. From the log procured in Court it appears that the voyage to Shanghai occupied forty days, and it is reasonable to presume that the return voyage would have occupied a like time. Eighty days at $278.57 per month amounts to $742.86. In addition to this sum, the Court holds that, in accordance with the rules for the measure of damages in breach of contract, the plaintiff is entitled to recover such expenses as he has been put to in obtaining legal remedy for the breach. From the evidence before the Court these are as follows: Fare from Singapore to Shanghai $130. Twenty-eight days board and lodging at $2 per day—$56. There is a further small sum to which the Court considers plaintiff entitled, which is the ten days from November 27 to December 6, after the contract was made and before the ship left Bangkok. This amounts to $92.86.

These sums amount to $1,021.72, of which $353.76 has been paid, leaving a balance of $667.96. And the Court awards damages in this amount to plaintiff.

Plaintiff was represented by Mr. H. D. Rodger and the defendants by Major C. P. Holcomb.

Pedestrians To Begin Training Monday For Big International Race

First Squad To Start From New Carlton At Six O'clock In The Evening; All Candidates Are Invited To Join; First Cup Offered By The China Press

By Westa

FOR THE WALKERS!

THE CHINA PRESS takes pleasure in announcing the offer of a handsome silver cup to the man who finishes first in the international walking race that is to be held here on Sunday, December 16.

Another meeting of those interested in a revival of the international walking race for Shanghai was held last evening at the New Carlton, with Mr. H. F. Wilkinson, the Crown Advocate acting as Chairman.

At this meeting it was decided to ask the officials of the Shanghai Race Club to grant the use of the club track and grandstand for staging the finish of the race; also to request Mr. W. A. Olsen, Secretary of the Race Club to act as Hon. Treasurer for the walking race committee. The general committee appointed at the first meeting was authorised to appoint subcommittees on finance, to lay out a route, to name starters and other officials, and to do all the necessary organisation work.

More important than any of these things, however, is the fact that the walkers; at least those who attended the meeting, got together after the session and decided to begin training Monday evening. A score or more of those who expect to take part in the race were present, and all agreed to report at the New Carlton at six o'clock Monday evening for the first practice walk.

The training work will be taken up slowly, so as not to discourage the "tenderfeet" too much at the start. Mr. N. Webb, of the S.M.C. Revenue department, will set the pace for the first training squad, and guaranteed not to set a pace faster than four miles an hour, and not to make the first hike too long.

NO COSTUME NEEDED

It was pointed out by some of the veteran walkers present that no special costume would be needed for the first training hikes; but all candidates were advised to wear comfortable shoes with heavy woolen socks. Later on it is hoped to obtain a regular training headquarters at which candidates may change their clothing before starting on the practice hikes, and at which they may have a bath and rubdown upon their return.

Interest now centers on the make-up of the international teams that will enter the race, and in this connection it may be stated in the beginning that the membership of these teams is not limited in any way, and that the teams may not even be named before the race.

The first four men of any nationality to finish the race will constitute that nation's team. Thus if twenty Englishmen start the first four of them to finish will be the English team, and their standing will be according to the order of their finish.

Suppose, for instance, that Jones of the English team is the first to finish in the race. That will be one point against the English team. If Smith, the next Englishman to finish, comes in third that will be three more points against the English team. Suppose then that the Englishmen Robinson and Brown finish seventh and eighth, respectively. That will be fifteen more points against the English team, making a total of 19 points against the English combination.

HOW POINTS ARE SCORED

The team with the fewest points against it will be the winning team, the points not to be counted until four men are in.

If three Englishmen finish in first, second and third positions, and the next Englishman comes in fiftieth, that will mean fifty six points against the English team. And if the French finish fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh that will mean 22 points against them, and make them the team winners, despite the fact that the English were first, second and third under the wire.

The first man to finish, however, will win the individual prize, and there will be smaller individual prizes for all who finish.

Handsome prizes will be presented, and while the list has not yet been made up it can be safely be said that they will be beautiful and valuable trophies.

In this connection THE CHINA PRESS takes pleasure in announcing that it will present a silver cup to the first man to finish in the race.

Among the prospective contestants who were present at the meeting last evening were T. McLorn, T. and P. J. Dunne, A. Ozario, J. M. Cruz, Collaco Brothers, E. J. Sluis, S. R. Davison, L. Kennedy, A. Sims, J. R. Johansson, W. MacLaren, Tom. McKenna, F. A. and R. F. Remedios, E. J. Ling G. E. L. Rose, C. Ros, T. A. Carvalho and N. Webb.

Some discussion seems to have arisen as to what constitutes "heel and toe" walking, and in this connection it was explained by some of the experts at the meeting that there was no need for anybody who could walk at all to have any apprehensions on that score. It will not be necessary, as some suppose, to learn a new step, or to walk stiff legged. The main thing is to walk; not run, and the way to make sure of walking is to have at least part of one foot on the ground at all times, and to make sure that the heel touches the ground first in making a step.

MATCH MARKS CENTENARY OF RUGBY GAME

2,000 Spectators See Picked Teams Play At Rugby School

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 1.—In honor of the centenary of the rugby game a match was played today between combined English-Welsh and Scottish-Irish teams at Rugby School close, which was filled with rugby football notabilities of several generations.

The close holds 2,000 spectators, but there were enough applications for tickets to fill the space several times.

Glorious weather favored the match, which resulted in a win for England and Wales over Scotland and Ireland by 21 points to 16.

TWO INTERPORT EVENTS AT HENLI THIS AFTERNOON

Fours And Sculling Championship Are To Be Contested

With their training finished and everything in readiness for the combined autumn and Interport Regatta, Shanghai and visiting oarsmen are waiting at Henli today for the start of what promises to be the most interesting rowing meet in several years. The Hongkong and Tientsin oarsmen who have been practicing at Henli for the last week are in fine fettle, and that describes the Shanghai representatives who have been preparing for the races by daily workouts on the river here.

A large crowd will go to Henli today, and a still larger one will go up tomorrow, when the Interport eights will be rowed—the big event of the two day's program.

The most interesting events on today's program will be the Interport Fours and the Interport championship. The full program for today follows:

Charles Toth

AFTER several attempts, Charles Toth, of Boston, finally managed to swim the English Channel, the second American to accomplish the feat. Toth entered the water at Cape Gris Nez, on the French coast, and landed at Dover, Eng., after being in the water 16 hours and 54 minutes.

After-Shocks Likely In Japan For Some Time To Come, But No Bad Quake

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Oct. 26.—Though earthquakes are likely to occur at more or less frequent intervals for some time to come, even until May of next year, according to mathematical calculations based on the number of shocks that have been felt since September 1, there should be no cause for alarm "because, owing to the exhaustion of the seismic forces, an upheaval of the severity of that of September 1 is hardly likely to recur for the next thirty to eighty years."

This is the opinion of Dr. Akitsune Omamura, a member of the Earthquake Investigation Committee, as set forth in the official report on the recent disaster.

The earthquake of September 1, says the report, occurred at 11.58.45.a.m., with its centre in the sea-bed at a spot from ten to twelve miles to the east of the Island of Oshima, and from sixty to seventy miles south of Tokio. It was the most violent shock felt in Japan since that of 1857.

The initial shock, which was vertical, and had an amplitude of ten inches, lasted 13.9 seconds. Following this came the "after-shocks," the severest of which had an amplitude of six inches but lasted only two seconds and was consequently not so destructive.

Of these after-shocks there are two kinds, one violent, short and accompanied by rumblings, the other slow and rather long. Tokio experienced both kinds on this occasion, but neither was destructive.

Between September 1 and October 22 there were recorded 1,370 after-shocks. They still continue, but are rapidly decreasing both in number and in strength. Of these 356 occurred between 11.58 on September 1 and noon on September 2: 289 on September 2-3: 172 on September 3-4: 143 on September 4-5: 63 on September 5-6: 45 on September 6-7: 43 on September 7-8: and so on in a downward scale to 17 on September 11-12: 11 on September 14-15: 5 on September 19-20 and 2 on October 22-23.

Dr. Omamura goes on to say that, by a calculation from the foregoing figures, it may be ascertained that after 167 days (February 14, 1924) the after-shocks may occur once in two days, after 249 days (May 6, 1924) once in three days, and after 374 days (March 27, 1924) once a week. He warns the people that the shocks will continue at least until the spring, but adds that there is no need for alarm.

The various reports circulating early in September that as a result of the earthquake Mt. Fuji had changed its shape are declared to be unfounded by an engineer of the Numadzu Meteorological Observatory, who has been up the mountain to investigate. He reports, however, that a layer of deep brown lava along the peaks and ridges of the mountain has changed its colour, that there are numerous clefts and fissures, and that on one of the peaks is a new crater-like opening, inside of which the temperature is over fifty degrees.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Oct. 26.—The amount of money spent on earthquake relief up to the present is said to be Y.40,000,000, but this excludes the amount spent by charitable societies, companies and individuals, which it is impossible to estimate.

The money spent so far has been taken from the Y.10,000,000 donated by the Imperial Family, Y.20,000,000 assigned to relief work and money subscribed at home and abroad.

In the middle of this month about 500,000 people were in receipt of relief. On October 1 the number was over 700,000.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 2.—The Lord Mayor's Japanese Relief Fund, which closed on October 30, reached £250,000.

PRES. MADISON BRINGS AMERICAN MAILS TODAY

Bringing mail from the States, the President Madison will arrive at Woosung from Seattle this evening, and steaming up the Whangpoo on Sunday morning, docking at the China Merchants' Lower Wharf around 7 o'clock. A tender will leave the Customs jetty at 6 o'clock this evening to meet the vessel, and returning between 10 and 11 p.m. with passengers who wish to land. The Madison has on board 1,492 bags of mail, a full list of passengers and 2,000 tons of cargo for this port.

The Empress of Canada, which anchored at Woosung yesterday morning, will sail for Hongkong this afternoon. The tender with outgoing passengers and baggage for Woosung will leave the Customs jetty at 12:30 p.m.

Following the consignments of European mail that were sent yesterday, the next mail for Europe will go on the Chili, November 9, and mail for the States is to be dispatched on the President Grant that same day.

Views Of French Endanger Plan In U. S. Opinion

ORGANISED BANKRUPTCY

France thought that she had the right to security which was of interest for the peace of the world and for reparations which had been expressly promised by the treaty. Immediately Germany instead of fulfilling her obligations, calculated that it would lull vigilance to sleep and would weaken the resolution of the Allies. Patient France vainly claimed for three years that the Reich should pay its debts. On the contrary, Germany organised bankruptcy, thus affording the paradoxical spectacle of a ruined country, one part of which was reduced to mendicity and the other part possessing immense riches and refusing to pay.

A Government respecting international obligations could force them to do so but no one had the courage to free the embittered bureaucracy from the Imperial spirit and prevent the propaganda of revenge and hatred and to reduce the Reichswehr and Schutzpolizei, an independent and redoubtable power. Anarchy had grown stronger after the occupation of the Ruhr and had only stopped on the day when the threat of dissolution halted it.

This insane obstinacy imposed on France the necessity of taking pledges guaranteeing total payment. France was now watching the last spasms of the resistance of officials, railwaymen, miners industrials and businessmen. She would only deal with those accepting a share in reparations and sheltering the workers from unemployment. In spite of the declarations of the Reich, the tonnage of coal gratuitously assured to France was increasing daily. She was receiving the reward of her efforts.

NO TIME TO CHANGE

It was not the moment to change her conduct and she would not change. She desired rapidly to solve the question of reparations in full agreement with the Allies, but she would not accept any reduction of her credit. The Reparations Commission with information from experts had the right to find new methods of payment, means to restore German finances and improve the currency situation, but it must not be demanded of it to disavow the decision which it took on the total of the Allied credit, nor to pledge itself for the future.

What a danger it would be if tomorrow Germany, freed of a part of her debt, soon restored enriched and powerful, was desirous of crushing France under her supremacy. France would not be caught in the snare.

M. Poincare in conclusion said: "We could not covet any territory. We have respected and we respect the liberty of all nations. We desire to preserve the most trusting and friendly relations with our Allies. We only ask to resume neighbourly rela-

Sidi Spreckle A Turkish Princess

Princess Sued Chakir. INTL.

IN 1915, after his first wife had divorced him, the late John D. Spreckles, Jr., of San Francisco, member of the fabulously wealthy sugar family, married Sidi Wirt, a Kansas ranch girl. He was killed in 1921, in an automobile accident, while his second wife's divorce suit was pending. Now comes word that Sidi Wirt Spreckles has married Prince Sued Chakir, head of one of the richest and most influential families in Turkey, with a wonderful palace overlooking the Bosphorus, in Constantinople.

Paris, Nov. 1.—A message from Troyes denies the report of the arrest at Cologne of the Separatist leader, Herr Cremers.

The Rhineland Republic has been proclaimed at Duesseldorf.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 1.—Concern has been occasioned in official quarters by statements attributed to M. Poincare indicating a desire to restrict severely the scope of the reparations enquiry. It is stated authoritatively that, if France insists on a formula preventing a full enquiry into Germany's capacity to pay, the success of the present negotiations will be seriously jeopardised.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 1.—A message from Berlin states that the floating debt on October 27 totalled 2,642,000,000,000,000,000 marks.

The Liberal press considers that the Socialists' conditions are irreconcilable with the desiderata of the democrats of the Centre. The Vossische Zeitung shows scepticism.

It is reported from Munich that the ex-Premier, Herr Hoffmann, has been charged with high treason and removed from office in the Palatinate.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The Berliner Tageblatt expresses the regrets of political circles at the forthcoming resignation of Lord D'Abernon.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Nov. 1.—Italy is supporting the British proposal of a joint Allied invitation to the United States to participate in solution of the reparations problem.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 2.—It is reported from Paris that the French reply to the British Note with regard to the convocation of a reparations conference stipulates that the enquiry should be limited to Germany's present capacity and thus not to re-open the question of her total indebtedness. It is believed that this was the point which aroused anxiety in America but political circles in London are in no way alarmed in view of the announcement that the negotiations between London and Paris will be continued.

McGinnity, 52, Still In Harness

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 30.—Joe McGinnity, 52-year-old pitcher and manager of the Dubuque team of the Mississippi Valley League and famous "Iron Man" of Major league baseball two decades ago, has been signed by the Des Moines team of the Western League.

Is your husband in love with another man's wife? Don't take him to a lawyer; bring him to see "SO LONG LETTY." Don't argue; just show him the picture.

IZAKO, THE GREAT MAGICIAN IS COMING TO APOLLO

A Visit To Maxim Gorky

BY CLAIRE SHERIDAN

From the northernmost frontier of Germany, which used to touch Russia, I travelled two nights and a long day to the southernmost frontier of Germany and found Maxim Gorky. The little quiet hotel in which he temporarily has his abode reminded one of an American country club tucked away in a remote valley between wooded mountains. Here he is hemmed in and protected by a little devoted circle of writers, artists and relations.

I spent two days with him and our conversation lost nothing from having to be conducted through an interpreter. While he spoke in Russian I was able to watch the force of his gesticulations and his changes of expression. While listening to his interpreter he looked at me sometimes wonderingly and sometimes amusedly, but even when Gorky smiles his face retains its deep furrow of sorrow.

He seems to be shattered with disillusionment and yet .... he is loyal. The revolution has not quite failed, he says. Gorky is Russian, he loves Russia and his own people. He is not interested in revolution for other countries.

He thinks that all efforts should now be concentrated on the rebuilding of Russia and not on foreign revolutionary propaganda, and so Gorky, who dreams of peace, remains in Germany and gets as near as he can to a southern frontier. I asked what he thought of the present situation in Germany. He shrugged his shoulders.

"I am in Germany," he said, "but I cannot find the nation. I see a collection of people who work very hard but that is all."

The Russian Communists, he said, who are working hard to foster revolution in Germany are faced with that unsurmountable, unmovable mountain: the German innate spirit of discipline—a brutal people when led, but of an apathetic orderliness when left to themselves. Every time there is an organized Communist strike for higher wages, the Communist Party in Germany increases from thousands to millions. As soon as the strike is won the party dwindles again to its prestrike strength.

Gorky laughed as he related this, as if the vision of Moscow trying to transfer its dying embers to a new site for revival was amusing in its hopelessness. The German workers, he advised should work thirteen hours a day for six months, amass money and material and then start their fight backed by reserves, but instead the German workman sleeps. He may evolve in time.

"How about the Russian worker?" I asked.

"The Russian worker has already evolved very far," Gorky answered. "The Russian worker has lived through such a life struggle in the last few years that a new type of Americanized man has been moulded with a deep sense of individualism."

The new peasant consciousness realizes the necessity of acquiring knowledge, and this new class is making supreme efforts to attract intelligentsia, in the way of agriculturists, teachers, doctors, &c. The farmers will even pay very high fees to obtain these services. They are even seeking former landowners, and restoring part of their estates on condition that these landlords should create for them model farms.

But Gorky, loving Russia, seemed dissatisfied with Russians. Perhaps he blames the Russian character for the excesses and the futilities that have taken place as a result of the revolution. He wishes that a Moses might appear and lead the people out of the land to wander in the wilderness and perish, so that a completely new untarnished generation might grow up in Russia.

"All the past should be stamped out, including all the great writers and the representatives of past culture, myself among them," he said, "and ground into the soil as fertilizer for the new Russian spirit."

He wished that Russia would turn her face westward (here I made a gesture of horror) and imbibe some western culture. He believed they would benefit more from reading Dickens than Dostoyefski.

"Who built Moscow? Not the people described by Dostoyefski but the middle people of whom no Russian Dickens has written."

"What do you mean by western culture?" I asked.

"Anglo-Saxon," he answered.

"Do you include America"

"Certainly; America originated with the Mayflower Puritans, and that psychology including the language, has survived any invasions of other immigrations." He talked of the Anglo-Saxons as people who represent the greatest paradox. "They live rationally and they think irrationally." He talked upon this western culture and civilization with insistence and admiration.

"From the West," he said, "we will derive all our civilization, our benefits, our development, and armed with these modern weapons we will conquer the East. Further and further we will push back the East and establish our domination."

Gradually the conversation drifted back to present day Russia. I asked him: "Has the disappearance from leadership of Lenin made any great difference in Russia?"

He shrugged his shoulders enigmatically, and then: "Bolshevik Russia without Lenin is like a shirne from which the Saint has walked out."

I then asked him who are the big personalities after Lenin and he mentioned Krassin, Zuropa and Zorine (this latter was a simple work man in the United States and is a great idealist). "What about Trotzky?" I asked. He answered:

"Trotzky has all the qualities of the ideal Jew. He is emotional and sensitive, but the Jews cannot hold their own with the Russians in depth of sentiment, in tenacity of purpose or in Bolshevik faith. The Russian Bolsheviks are the real idealist Bolsheviks, and the backbone of Russian Bolshevism are the Russian leaders, not the Jews. The Governmental apparatus is already working on its own and therefore does not feel the disappearance of Lenin. In this sense the Jews are merely acting as the executives of that Governmental machine."

"Has the revolution been too overwhelming, too drastic for Russia?"

He laughed, and likened the revolution and Russia to a devastating rain upon a field of potatoes. The potatoes can stand a great deal of rain, and the bigger the potato area the more rain it can absorb .... There cannot be too much rain for Russia.

He talked with obvious weariness of politics and with despair of the unproductive energy that science wastes upon destructive armaments.

"If all human energy were turned from politics to art, the Alps would be carved into a monument."

He does not care about the Germans. "A people who have produced a Wagner and yet are unmusical .... a people who have produced Nietzche, Schiller, Kant, Goethe, and yet are an uncultured people." "And Russia," I asked again with a persistence that amused him. "Is Russia going to end by being a petit bourgeois nation?" I hope to rouse him into fierce denial. To my astonishment he nodded philosophically: "Naturally, isn't Russia a peasant nation?"

NOTICE

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1923

8.000 debentures of Tls. 100 each
(issued at Tls. 97 each)

Rate of interest 6% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 8.000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, issued at Tls. 97 each according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on the 14th May 1923.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:

1°.—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°.—The Debentures will be issued at Tls. 97 each

3°.—The Debentures will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100 each) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st December 1923 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

4°.—The Debentures will bear interest at 6% per annum, payable on the 31st day of May and 30th day of November in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

5°.—The Debenture Certificates will be issued and bear interest from 1st July 1923.

6°.—Applications for Debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat, from June 20 next.

A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for and payable on June 30th must be deposited at the same time.

7°.—Applications for Debentures under 97 will not be recognised by the Council,

8°.—For further informations, apply to Mr. P. Legendre, Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, 31st May 1923.

By Order,
P. LEGENDRE
Secretary.

If you have business in the Far East—

THE kind of a bank you need to help you is one whose business is exclusively of the Far East—

A BANK whose name and reputation will win the respect and confidence of your customers—a bank that is versed in the methods of the East: that knows its customs and markets—a bank that is your experienced business counselor as well as your financial agent.

Such a Bank is the
EQUITABLE EASTERN BANKING CORPORATION

ORGANISED and managed by the officers and directors of The Equitable Trust Company of New York, it will give you the same prestige abroad and the same personal service that distinguishes the parent organization—with the added convenience of a separate bank devoted exclusively to Oriental business.

Call at our New York or Shanghai Offices, and let us tell you how we can help you.

Japanese Plan Children's Fete On Armistice Day

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Oct. 26.—The various peace societies of Japan, of which there are nine, are proposing to make Armistice Day (November 11) this year a Children's Day. On that day a children's rally be held in Hibiya Park, and will be attended by some 20,000 children, those belonging to foreign residents being invited as guests of honour. Various entertainments will be provided, and the meeting will close with a resolution of thanks for the sympathy shown to Japan by the people of the world on the occasion of the recent disaster.

The terms of this resolution will afterward be broadcasted in the name of the children of Japan

MANY SCHOOLS TO JOIN IN MEET AT HANGCHOW

Twenty-Six Institutions To Compete On November 4th

(China Press Correspondence)

Hangchow, Oct. 31.—Local schools and colleges are making preparation for their annual athletic day, which is to be held November the fourth on the large parade grounds of the first military division in the southern end of the city. The field is known as the Mei Tong Kao Gyao.

This annual day of athletics has become an institution in Hangchow. Last year more than a thousand students participated in the games and drills of the day and produced one of the most colorful and interesting events imaginable. The list of entires for this year numbers twenty-six schools. In addition to the entries for field and track events, which average about ten to a school, there will be group entries from each school for drills, mass games, boxing, fencing, and fancy dancing.

More than half of the entering schools are schools for girls. Their part in the meet last year was particularly good, and their additional year of training ought to make their events even better this year. In addition to the actual participants in the games and drills the student bodies of the various schools will be out in full force, with bands, banners and school flags. They will sit in reserved sections by shools. A stand for the official-patrons and patronnesses too, of the games is being erected at the southern end of the field. Here the opening ceremonies of the day will be conducted, which will consist of raising the nation-all flag and bowing before it on the part of all the athletes and other participants in the program, speeches by some of the officials and the playing of the national anthem.

The referee for th games is Prof. C. H. McCloy of Southeastern University. He is to be assisted by thirty local officials, recruited largely from the Y. M. C. A. mission bodies and business houses. These thirty men will have their work cut out for them. Last year there was a near-scrap, the year before a full-fledged and free-for-all one, and this year only a prophet can say what there will be. Interest is high, but the local students are learning sportsmanship and there is a determined effort to carry the day through without trouble and in a spirit of friendly rivalry which will foster clean inter-scholastic games and meets. It will be a day well worth while for the lover of sports.

EXTRACT FROM EXPERT REPORT:

"Having visited most of the cement factories of Great Britain, America and Europe, I am in a position to form an opinion of the relative merits and faults of each.....but my experiences lead me to the conclusion that 'pride of place' must unquestionably be given to the Holderbank Factory in Switzerland .....In design and construction it is a model without rival in any country." W. H. Brown, A. M. I. Mech. E., leading authority in England on cement manufacturing.

The Wisdom of the ancient Sage and the technical experiences of a modern authority on cement manufacturing have guided us to instal a set of machinery in our Lungwha Works which is an exact model of the one used by the Holderbank factory, Switzerland, and supplied by the original patentees with numerous latest improvements. The cement we are now supplying our customers is the product of that "perfect instrument."

American Merchants In Japan

GENERAL Frank R. McCoy of Manila who was at the head of the American relief work in Japan, stated in an interview in The China Press this week that the U. S. Government and the American people had expended Gold $20,000,000 in relief work in Japan. This money went forfood for the hungry, medical service for the sick and injured, lumber for the homeless and so on, but to date we have seen no mention of anything being done to rehabilitate the American merchant in Japan.

We refer of course to the merchant who conducted a small business, who had an agency for a few lines of American products or who managed a small retail or wholesale business. The big companies such as Standard Oil, General Electric, International Bank and so on of course looked after their own, but there was no one to look after the so-called "little dealer" who worked on his own with small capital. He has had to shift for himself and from the stories drifting over to the China coast, most of these men, who individually do a small business but in the aggregate contribute much toward the prosperity of the United States in foreign trade, have simply had to get aboard a ship and go home to start out all over again with nothing whatever to show for many years spent in building up business in the Orient.

One case which has just come to the writer's attention by the round-about way of New York, deals with an American who published a small trade journal in Yokohama. His business was completely destroyed, his wife and child were killed but he escaped. He wandered around through the ruins for a couple of weeks after the quake and then got on a ship and went home, the only property he possessed being the suit of clothes he wore. This case may be worse than most but it is typical of the situation confronting dozens of Americans and other foreigners as well who were doing business in Tokio and Yokohama.

It is understood that the British Chamber of Commerce in Shanghai is taking action to bring the matter of relief for their merchants in Japan to the attention of the home authorities and it is expected that the American Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai will take similar action. It should be possible for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States with headquarters in Washington to do something that would enable these American merchants to obtain banking credits sufficient to enable them to start out again and resume their foreign trade missionary work by participating in the rebuilding of Japan that must follow the earthquake and fire.

The American people while holding the record for generosity toward the needy regardless of race or creed, are notoriously short-sighted when looking after their own. And unless this matter of immediately doing something to rehabilitate the American merchants who suffered in the Japanese disaster is forcibly brought to the attention of the commercial and banking interests at home it is certain that many of them will be forced to give up and leave the field. This would be nothing short of disastrous to America's future trade with Japan, for as stated above, it is the "small merchant who does the pioneering work, who opens up the field, and who makes a market for hundreds of lines of manufactured articles not handled by the large corporations. The American chambers of commerce in China have a distinct opportunity for service here and it is to be hoped that they will act at once.

Co-operation And Rum

THE other day we remarked that co-operation did not consist of one person ramming his convictions down another man's throat. More often than not this method is entirely unsuccessful leaving much room for exacerbated feelings and hindering the attainment of that common end toward which the two were struggling. Nor is lip-service to the principle of co-operation of the slightest value when we come to consider the big question of international relations. It is at least hypocrisy and certainly a futility. The telegrams of the last few days tend to show that it may be possible to obtain the assistance of other countries in matters which most nearly concern ourselves, and there is every reason to believe that in the very near future we shall be receiving from Great Britain that assistance necessary to make more complete the effective enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Apart from the fabrication of badly made and highly poisonous liquors of domestic production, the United States has witnessed an area of smuggling comparable only to that which kept English excisemen so much on the alert a little more than a century ago. So large had this illicit trade in liquor along the American coast become that the success of the measure which was passed only after years of agitation, was for a very long time in the balance. It may be even now, for all we know, but at all events the British proposal for the modification of the Treaty suggested by Mr. Hughes permitting the search for contraband liquor outside the three mile limit, and, it is reported, up to twelve miles whether they prove acceptable to Washington or not, indicate at least a willingness to find some modus vivendi which will enable us to enforce the will of our legislature. Whatever may or may not be our opinions as to the merits of the Eighteenth Amendment, it is clear that the same having appeared on our statute books it is our duty to take every possible means to ensure its enforcement.

Whether we are entitled to look for assistance to other countries is entirely another matter, especially when as in the case of France and Great Britain our ownreform was calculated to strike a blow, by no means light, at important industries carried on within their borders and accustomed to look to America for a considerable proportion of their export trade. That point of view is entirely mercenary, and probably the lowest criterion from which could be judged the duty of one country to another. And if it were necessary to expatiate at any length on this aspect of the question whatever could be said could be summed up in the one phrase that it is no part of our government's duty to assist trade to another country which that country has declared illicit, any more than we can expect it of others. As we have said, it is a low standpoint.

There is, however, another and more reasonable manner of looking at the matter. It is the duty of every friendly government to assist others in the maintenance of their dignity and the dignity of any government is seriously menaced by organised defiance of lawbreakers made possible only by the omissions or commissions of the rulers of another power. The picture presented of our government being circumvented in the enforcement of its own laws by smuggling on a large scale was not a pleasant one. Nor was there much satisfaction to be derived from the British refusal in the first instance to modify the three-mile limit which made such systematic breach of the law possible. We were faced with the knowledge that three miles from our coasts vessels laden with the means of setting our will at nought could anchor in complete immunity from interference by our law officers waiting for suitable opportunities to land liquor within our coasts.

It is somewhat in the nature of things that Great Britain should be the first to step down from a rigid adherence to the provisions of international law as they at present stand, for if we remember rightly she has somewhere in her legislation a provision entailing punishment for those guilty of acts calculated to impair relations with a friendly government. The exact scope of its application does not matter, for once the principle is adopted extensions thereof become matters of logical sequence. On that precedent Great Britain seems to bebasing her present policy, with this difference, while she apparently is not yet prepared to take active steps to assist the United States in the suppression of liquor smuggling, she is apparently ready to co-operate in making it more difficult for the rum-runners by extending the scope of the American preventive service.

How far other liquor exporting countries will follow the lead which seems about to be given we cannot at present say, but we hope that France and Italy will speedily come into line. We are entitled to expect assistance in giving prohibition a fair chance to prove or disprove its practicability, not only because, if successful, we shall have effected one of the greatest reforms in history, but because by rendering such assistance other governments are enhancing the dignity of our law, would be entitled to the same consideration from us, and would by assisting in the vindication of our law vindicate the authority of their own.

Commentaries

THE question has often been asked why our bankers do not come more in the front with their views on subjects that agitate the public from time to time. Bankers are reputed to be level-headed men and whenever they speak their opinions command respect the world over. In Shanghai unfortunately our bankers prefer to hide their light under a bushel. Most bank managers are storehouses of valuable information and their contributions to trade are recognised and appreciated. The pity of it is that they come before the public so seldom.

We had the pleasure of attending a tiffin the other day given by the Chinese Banking Institute to mark its monthly meeting, and an interesting feature was an invitation extended to Mr. Buchan, the very able Manager of the Asia Banking Corporation to address them. Mr. Buchan does not require any introduction to our readers. As head of one of the premier American banking institutions in the Orient, he has done remarkable work in assisting American corporations in the Far East. Although the subject chosen by Mr. Buchan was not local in scope yet it was topical and one that was popular. Mr. Buchan discoursed on the relative importance of New York and London as the money market of the world and incidentally discussed the relative importance of the gold dollar and the pound sterling in the exchange market of the world.

Economists have been arguing of late as to whether the gold dollar will eventually become the world's premier exchange or give place to the pound sterling. Mr. Buchan's views are interesting for they disclose a penetrating study of the question. Summed up, he thinks if England is saved from the blight of Bolshevism during the next decade, the pound sterling should recover its lost position. In other words the English pound will appreciate in the course of time rather than depreciate.

We could go further and assert that a country whose currency is to be the main exchange in the world's markets has to be a creditor nation. Before the War England was the creditor nation, today it is the United States of America. The latter is the wealthiest nation, at present having the largest stock of gold in the world, a large foreign trade—although this is not a case of life and death as it is with England—and also a large monetary market.

The United States is now a creditor nation, with the result that debtor nations have to come periodically into the market and buy gold dollars to make payments to America against debts contracted during the Great War and since. Eight years ago the business in gold dollars was small. The outbreak of the War helped the gold dollar considerably as New York became the market where loans were floated by the Allies. Z

Religion And Education—Errors Of The Unlearned—More Pay For Teachers

To come from the press of public affairs, where the practical issues of life is at its flood, into these calm and classic surroundings, where ideals are cherished for their own sake, is an intense relief and satisfaction. Even in the full flow of commencement exercises it is apparent that here abide the truth and the servants of the truth. Here appears the fulfillment of the past in the grand company of alumni, recalling a history already so thick with laurels. Here is the hope of the future, brighter yet in the young men to-day sent forth.

"The unarmed youth of heaven. But o'er their heads

Celestial armory, shield, helm and spear.

Hung bright, with diamond flaming and with gold."

In them the dead past lives. They represent the college. They are the college. It is not in the campus with its imposing halls and temples, nor in the silent lore of the vast library or the scientific instruments of well equipped laboratories, but in the men who are the incarnation of all these, that your college lives. It is not enough that there be knowledge, history and poetry, eloquence and art, science and mathematics, philosophy and ethics, ideas and ideals. They must be vitalized. They must be fashioned into life. To send forth men who live all these is to be a college. This temple of learning must be translated into human form if it is to exercise any influence over the affairs of mankind, or if its alumni are to wield the power of education.

If college bred men are to exercire the influence over the progress of the world which ought to be their portion they must exhibit in their lives a knowledge and a learning which is marked with candor, humility and the honest mind.

ERRORS OF THE UNLEARNED

It is always easy to discover flaws, and, pointing them out, to criticize. It is not so easy to suggest substantial remedies or propose constructive policies. It is characteristic of the unlearned that they are forever proposing something which is old, and, because it has recently come to their own attention supposing it to be new. Into this error men of liberal education ought not to fall. The forms and processes of government are not new. They have been known, discussed and and tried in all their varieties through the past ages. That which America exemplifies in her constitution and system of representative government is the most modern, and of any yet devised gives promise of being the most substantial and enduring.

It is not unusual to hear arguments against our institutions and our Government, addressed particularly to recent arrivals and the sons of recent arrivals to our shores. They sometimes take the form of a claim that our institutions were founded long ago; that changed conditions require that they now be changed. Especially is it claimed by those seeking such changes that these new arrivals and men of their race and ideas had no hand in the making of our country, and that it was formed by those who were hostile to them and therefore they owe it no support. But scholarship, has answered ignorance. The learned and patriotic research of men of the education of Dr. James J. Walsh and Michael J. O'Brien, the historian of the Irish American Society, has demonstated that a generous portion of the rank and file of the men who fought in the Revolution and supported those who framed our institutions was not alien to those who are represented here. It is no wonder that from among such that which is American has drawn some of its most steadfast defenders.

In these days of violent agitation scholarly men should reflect that the progress of the past has been accomplished not by the total overthrow of institutions so much as by discarding that which was bad and preserving that which was good; not by revolution but by evolution has man worked out his destiny. We shall miss the central feature of all progress unless we hold to that process now. It is not a question of whether our institutions are perfect. The most beneficent of our institutions had their beginnings in forms which would be particularly odious to us now.

WHAT IS LOVE?

IS the answer the same through the ages, or—DOES Love vary with each generation?

IS Love now, after such a climactic event as the World War, different from the love of the days of our fathers and mothers?

By Wm. DUDLEY PELLEY

Author of "The Fog" and many clever stories.

As difficult of definition as the people who must have it defined . . .

However, considering the popular aspect of the word and term and from the manner which most heart affairs run their course between ordinary, two-legged men and women in an addled world not exactly surfeited with appreciation:

Physical reaction to that individual of opposite gender who subconsciously most edifies our own Ego!

Or putting it inversely: An idealised anticipation of continual gratification in the least disagreeable attributes, both mental and physical, in another's personality.

This will only be accepted as cynicism by the novice. . . Because basically, Love is ever possession expressed by emotion.

Taken all in all, after nearly forty years of hectic living in order to qualify for nearly forty minutes hectic thinking—and to be as considerate toward the Idealists as to my Esteemed Contemporaries—sum it up this way:

Love is that emotional hypnosis which impels to permanent acquisition of the beloved, when the procreative instinct has unwittingly or deliberately determined upon a complement who knows the line of least resistance through our own complexes.

Or to put it in an advertising slogan: Love is the one feeling you can't resist!

BY BRUNO LESSING

Voltaire defines love as "the embroidery of the imagination upon the stuff of nature." This, whether one agrees with it or not, is a clear-cut, comprehensive definition expressed in twelve words. Can anyone give a better definition in twenty-five words? Below are a few short definitions from readers:

Mr. E. Goodman of San Francisco searches the wisdom stored by his sixty-nine years and concludes that "Love is Reaction:"

"Love reacts to beauty of face, form, movement; kindness, generosity, courage; intelligence, vivacity, accomplishment.

Love grows by what it feeds on."

"Love is the key of life."

—L. D. A., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Love is a temporary malady wished onto willing males by designing females; it perishes with his Bank account, and it is easily transferred in idle hours."

—H., San Francisco, Cal.

"I thoroughly disagree with those who claim that love is a physical attraction. In my estimation love is the pinnacle of life. It embodies the power of sacrifice as well as desire."

Mr. W. H. Harvey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., finds that expression already has been given to his idea of what Love is. Mr. Harvey quotes Robert G. Ingersoll:

"Love is the only bow on life's dark cloud. It is the morning and the evening star. It shines upon the babe, and sheds its radiance on the quiet tomb. It is the mother of art, inspirer of poet, patriot and philosopher. It is the air and light of every heart, builder of every home, kindler of every fire on every hearth. It was the first to dream of immortality. It fills the world with melody—for music is the voice of love."

"La grande passion" is a dominating magnetic force of the human adult which reflects itself in the opposite sex and completes a nature unit.

—Mrs. D. C. Rugg,
Los Angeles, Cal.

"The word 'love' as applied to that attachment of feeling of man for woman or vice versa, is greatly misunderstood, I believe, when defined as affection, adoration, feeling, impulse, etc. Love between man and woman is caused by the same two fundamental instincts and prime motivators that govern them in all other deals or transactions throughout life. These two impulses are first Curiosity—second Selfishness."

—Charles C. O'Reilly,
Los Angeles, Cal.

As Calvin Coolidge Thinks

Civilization began with war and and slavery; government began in absolute despotism; and religion itself grew out of superstition which was oftentimes marked with human sacrifices. So out of our present imperfections we shall develop that which is more perfect. But the candid mind of the scholar will admit and seek to remedy all wrongs with the same zeal with which it defends all rights.

KNOWLEDGE GIVES FAITH

From the knowledge and the learning of the scholar there ought to be developed an abiding faith. What the teaching of all history? That which is necessary for the welfare and progress of the human race has never been destroyed. The discoverers of truth, the teachers of science, the makers of inventions, have passed to their last rewards, but their works have survived. The Phoenician galleys and the civilization which was born of their commerce have perished, but the alphabet which that people perfected remains. The shepherd kings of Israel, the temple and empire of Solomon, have gone the way of all the earth, but the Old Testament has been preserved for the inspiration of mankind. The Ark of the Covenant and the seven pronged candlestick have passed from human view; the inhabitants of Judea have been dispersed to the ends of the earth, but the New Testament has survived and increased in its influence among men. The glory of Athens and Sparta, the grandeur of the Imperial City, are a long lost memory, but the poetry of Homer and Virgil, the oratory of Demosthenes and Cicero, the philosophy of Plato and Aristotle, abide with us forevermore. Whatever America holds that may be of value to posterity will not pass away.

The long and toilsome processes which have marked the progress of the past cannot be shunned by the present generation to our advantage. We have no right to expect as our portion something substantially different from human experience in the past. The constitution of the universe does not change. Human nature remains constant. That service and sacrifice which have been the price of past progress are the price of progress now.

This is not a gospel of despair, but of hope and high expectation. Out of many tribulations mankind has pressed steadily onward. The opportunity for a rational existence was never before so great. Blessings were never so bountiful. But the evidence was never so overwhelming as now that men and nations must live rationally or perish.

The defenses of our Commonwealth are not material but mental and spiritual. Her fortifications, her castles, are her institutions of learning. Those who are admitted to the college campus tread the ramparts of the State. The classic halls are the armories from which are furnished forth the knights in armor to defend and support our liberty.

Holy Cross College, June 1919.

HIGHER SALARIES FOR TEACHERS

My Dear Mr. Mayor:

It will be with a good deal of satisfaction that I cooperate with you and any other cities of Massachusetts for the purpose of increasing the pay of those engaged in the teaching of the youth of our Commonwealth. It has become notorious that the pay for this most important function is much less than that which prevails in commercial life and business activities.

In an address which I made at a Harvard College commencement I undertook to direct attention to the inadequate compensation paid to our teachers, whether in the universities, public schools or the pulpits of the land. It is perfectly clear that more money must be provided for these purposes, which surpass in their importance all our other public activities, both by Government appropriation and by private charity.

It is significant that the number of teachers who are in training in our normal schools has decreased in the last twelve or fifteen years from 3,000 to 2,000, while the number of students in colleges and technical schools has increased. The people of the Commonwealth cannot support the Government unless the Government supports them.

Fortunately for us, the sterling character of teachers of all kinds has kept them at their task even though we have failed to show them due appreciation, and up to the present time the public has suffered little.

But unless a change is made and a new policy adopted, the cause of education will break down. It will either become a trade for those little suited for it or be abandoned altogether, instead of remaining the noblest profession, which it has been and ought to be.

There are some things that are fundamental. In the sixteenth century the voice of the people was little heard. If the sovereign had wisdom, that might suffice. But in the twentieth century the people are sovereign. What they think determines every question of civilization. Unless they are well trained, well informed, and well instructed, unless a proper value is put on knowledge and wisdom, the value of all material things will be lost.

There is now no pains too great, no cost too high, to prevent or diminish the duty enjoined by the Constitution of the Commonwealth that wisdom and knowledge, as well as virtue, be generally diffused among the body of the people.

This important subject ought to be considered and a remedy provided at the special session of the general court.

Letter to the Mayor of Boston concerning Teachers' Salaries, October 29, 1918.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D.,
Chicago, Ill.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D.,
Omaha, Neb.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D.,
Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D.,
St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
J. A. BOARMAN, M. D.,
Kansas City, Mo.

WUSIH COOLIES STRIKE, SMASH UP 60 RICSHAS

Walkout Follows Raise Of Rental Fee To Double

(China Press Correspondence)

Wusih, Ku., Nov. 1.—The local ricsha companies after consultation have decided to raise the rent charged to coolies from five hundred cash a day to nine hundred and fifty. Today was the day on which this new tariff was to go into effect. The coolies responded by striking.

Some of the bolder spirits among them gathered a crowd of the others and visited the ricsha hongs this morning and smashed about sixty before the police could gather to stop them. Eight of the ring leaders of the rioters have been arrested and are at present in the yamen jail. Several hundred others have gathered outside the yamen and have declared their intention of remaining there until their companions are released.

The ricshas in use in Wusih cost the companies about $40.00 apiece. When these are rented at the old rate of fifty coppers a day the companies take in just over one hundred dollars a year on them. If one allows that the company owing the ricsha has to spend $18.00 a year for licenses and $30.00 a year for repairs, a liberal allowance, the company will still be found to be making considerably over 100 percent on its invested money.

The ricsha companies are said to be mostly in the hands of the satellites of one or two of the most powerful men in the city. A new company can not be founded without the permission of these men.

Plan Inquiry On Provincial Funds

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 1.—The Ministry of Finance is establishing a special department to inquire into the financial situation of the provinces. Mr. Ling Wan-yuan, the former Vice-Minister of Finance, has been appointed chief with Mr. Kao Chi and five others as investigators in the provinces. Most of the investigators are heads of large provincial banks.

Obituary

MR. THOMAS AIKMAN

Wuhu, Oct. 30.—The funeral of Mr. Thomas Aikman, in charge of the installation plant of the Asiatic Petroleum Co. at Wuhu, was held in St. Mark's Church this afternoon.

Mr. Aikman came to Wuhu a year ago last spring and had gained the friendship of all those who made his acquaintance.

About a week ago, while returning to the installation plant, Mr. Aikman fell from the small motor launch into the Yangtze, just where the main current meets the eddy opposite Ih Chi Shan where the Wuhu General Hospital is situated. The Chinese crew on the launch was not immediately aware of the accident as it was dark, but reported as soon as possible to Mr. Rasmussen who is in charge of the Asiatic Petroleum Company at Wuhu. Searching parties were sent out daily and the river searched for miles, but the body could not be found. Eight days later, as Mr. John S. Lee was passing below Szi-Ho-Shan, about fifteen li below Wuhu, he saw a group Chinese, one of whom hailed him. They had found the body which was brought at once to the newly finished mortuary of the Wuhu General Hospital.

Swedish Crown Prince To Wed British Girl

CROWN Prince Gustav of Sweden has announced his engagement to Lady Louise Mountbatten, sister of Princess Andrew of Greece and of Lord Louis Mountbatten, chum of the Prince of Wales, who recently married Miss Edwina Ashley, richest girl in Great Britain. This will be Prince Gustav's second marriage, his first wife, Princess Margaret of Connaught, having died in 1920. Lady Louise is 34 and is a grandniece of the late King Edward of England.

Foreigners In Japan Still Need Warm Clothing

Foreigners in Japan are still in great need of warm clothing and an appeal to Shanghai people for winter garments of every sort is contained in a letter sent to Mrs. Rector Smith from Mrs. Robert L. Moss of Tokio. She writes that there is already suffering from lack of sufficient clothing and asks that all who have clothing which they can spare for Americans in Tokio send such supplies at once since the necessity is urgent. Clothing for men, women and children, coats sweaters, warm underclothing, shoes — anything warm—is desired at once and may be left at the headquarters of the American Woman's Club, 61 Szechuen Road, marked with Mrs. Rector Smith's name.

This will be sent to the American Ambassador at Tokio, marked for Mrs. Moss, who will undertake their distribution. The situation is genuinely acute, as it is impossible to buy any clothes in Japan so it is hoped that the response will be immediate. And gifts left at the American Woman's Club, Szechuen Road will be forwarded at once.

The British Empire Exhibition

London will be the centre of the world in a very special way next year; for, from April to October, it is to be the scene of the Great British Empire Exhibition. Though exhibits are to be confined to British Empire goods, the spectacle, in all but name, will be international. At Wembley Park, where it takes place, it will be an epitome of civilisation's achievements.

In scale the exhibition has no parallel in history. The following facts give some idea of its size:

It occupies an area of 215 acres, and will cost over £10,000,000 to prepare.

It is estimated that during the six months it is open 20,000,000 people will visit it from all parts of the world.

All the Dominions and Colonies that make up the British Empire are taking part in it. They are spending over £1,000,000 on their buildings alone, and in each case their Pavilions will be thoroughly characteristic of the countries they represent.

The buildings are being constructed almost entirely of concrete and the whole structure will be a wonderful feat of engineering. There are pavilions, gardens, conference halls, an Imperial Stadium, which is the largest sports arena in the world, and two huge industrial halls, the Palace of Engineering, and the Palace of Industry. The Palace of Engineering alone covers an area of more than 11 acres, and is probably the largest concrete building in the world; five lines of railway run through it from end to end in order to facilitate the assembly of exhibits. It will house one of the finest collections of engineering exhibits ever brought together in one exhibition. There will also be a miniature coal mine, in active operation.

People from every corner of the earth are combining proudly to show what man has achieved in his varying spheres. India and Burmese Temples will stand side by side with West African villages, Canadian ranches and South African ostrich farms will be reproduced. A Chinese street will show the craftsman of the East at work. From the South Seas will come the rare and refreshing fruits of the Pacific.

There will also be beautiful pleasure grounds containing the most modern devices for providing thrills and sensations. At night the whole Exhibition will be flooded in mysterious light coming apparently from nowhere, but producing an illumination rivalling daylight itself. A lake, in a wonderful embroidery of gardens, runs through the grounds from East to West. It will reflect light at night in such an ingenious way that the graceful boats will seem to ride suspended on a luminous cloud.

Wembley is one of the most accessible sites in the whole of Greater London. It is fed by almost every main line in the country and can be reached from all parts of London in times ranging from ten minutes to a half an hour. Special new roads are being constructed to cope with motor traffic and excellent parking facilities are available. When the Exhibition opens there will be a practically continuous train and omnibus service.

Thos. Cook and Son are the Chief Official Passenger Agents for this great Exhibition.

Season tickets, ordinary tickets and special reduced rate tickets for the Exhibition will be obtainable shortly at any of Messrs Thos. Cook and Son's Offices in the Far East. Special arrangements have been made for the reserving of hotel accommodation in London and visitors from the Far East will be well advised to book their rooms in advance through Thos. Cook and Son.
